SIGNAGE IN RIGHT-OF-WAY REVOCABLE PERMIT APPLICATION

OVERVIEW

Article 3-6 of the City’s Land Use and Development Code (LUDC) governs and controls all signs within all zones in the City limits. In the majority of cases, signs must be located on private property and cannot encroach onto the public sidewalk or street (referred to as “right-of-way”). However, there are certain situations where signs may encroach, but only if they are granted a ‘Signage in the Right-Of-Way Revocable Permit’ with specific guidelines as to where the sign is allowed to be located. This permit application allows property and business owners to request permission to have signage encroach into the right-of-way. Generally, there are two types of encroachments allowed.

Projecting (Place image)

Some buildings are placed right at the front property line so any projection from the front of the building will encroach into the right-of-way.

Temporary Small Portable Signs (Place image)

These signs, also known as sandwich boards or A-frames, are allowed to be temporarily placed in the public right-of-way if they comply with certain standards. These standards are listed on the back of this application.

REQUIRED SUBMITTAL MATERIALS

The application cannot be processed without the following information:

- A completed, signed application form.
- $50 application fee.
- A site plan showing the building, sidewalk, street features, and the proposed location of the encroaching sign.
- Building elevations or pictures showing the building storefront and location of proposed sign.
- Color renderings of the proposed sign including: sign structure/mounting type, dimensions, square footage, illumination, colors, lettering, and materials. Accurate color and materials samples required.
